Definitions

Agency-Based Services: Agency-Based care programs give you more help in hiring and managing your caregiver. You use your Medicaid CFC/PAS Waiver or VA VDC funding to pay for services, and allow the agency to handle hiring and training of your caregiver, as well as payroll. You then work with the agency to create a schedule.

Homemaker Services: Routine household activities like menu planning, budgeting, shopping, meal preparation, and light housekeeping.

Big Sky Waiver: A Medicaid waiver program in Montana that exists to keep people out of nursing homes. If you qualify for Medicaid, and if you need Skilled Nursing-level care, this program can help you pay for Assisted Living or in-home care services. This program is offered through the Montana Department of Health and Human Services (DPHHS) Senior & Long-Term Care Division (SLTC).

CFC/PAS: Community First Choice (CFC) and Personal Assistance Services (PAS) Programs are Medicaid waiver programs that exist to help keep people in their homes. If you qualify for Medicaid, this program can provide you a monthly stipend to hire and find your own caregiver (self-directed), or you can ask an agency to help you find, train, and schedule a caregiver (agency-based).

Companionship: Friendship and shared activities and/or appropriate role models for individuals experiencing lack of company, loneliness or social isolation.

Hospice: Hospice care is for people at the end of their life, who have a life expectancy less than 6 months. Hospice care focuses on comfort and quality of life, rather than getting better.

Long-Term Care Insurance (LTC Insurance): An insurance product that reimburses policyholders a daily amount for services to assist them with their activities of daily living. These services are not generally covered by Medicare or Medicaid.

Nursing Services: Services provided by a person with a Nursing degree or similar medical training. These are services that must be provided by a person with medical training, like wound care, physical or occupational therapy, infusions, and other services you might usually have to go to an office for.

Palliative Care: Palliative care is specialized medical care for people who are seriously ill. Palliative care focuses on relief of symptoms for the patient, as well as quality of life for the patient and their family. Palliative care can be provided to people who are still seeking curative care, and does not have a life expectancy requirement.

Personal Care: Help with activities of daily living like getting up, getting dressed, maintaining personal hygiene, eating, and using the restroom. These services are generally provided by a trained caregiver or Personal Care Attendant, who does not have medical training.

Self-Directed Services: Self-Directed care programs let you pick your caregiver. You can choose a person you already know, or who already cares for you. Once you provide information about your Medicaid CFC/PAS waiver or VA VDC funding, the agency will handle the payroll and hiring paperwork. You are in charge of training and scheduling your caregiver.

Transportation: Providing local transportation in the community, including transportation to appointments, medical escort, errand running, and shopping.

VA: Veteran's Administration. The government office that handles benefits for Veterans. You must contact them first to enroll in services if you haven't already.

VDC: Veteran Directed Care. A program through the Veterans Administration to help older veterans stay in their homes. It works similarly to the Medicaid CFC/PAS Program. You must first enroll in VA healthcare services and see a VA doctor. After you complete a Geriatric Extended Care Assessment (GEC) with the VA and are approved, this program can provide you a monthly stipend to find, hire, and train your own caregiver (self-directed), or you can ask an agency for help finding, training, and scheduling caregivers (agency-based).
